

Reid & Riege's International Legal Alliance TAGLaw Achieves Top "Elite - Band 1" Ranking by Chambers & Partners

February 28, 2025

Reid & Riege's international legal alliance, TAGLaw[®], has again been recognized by Chambers & Partners as "Elite - Band 1" for 2025-the highest ranking awarded to legal networks and alliances. This is the 12th year TAGLaw has received the distinguished "Elite" designation since Chambers & Partners began ranking legal networks and alliances in 2013, and the fifth consecutive year ranked as "Band 1" since Chambers expanded their rankings of legal networks in 2020.

Thomas Kasper, President of Reid & Riege, remarked that "Reid & Riege has been a proud member of TAG for more than 25 years, regularly collaborating with our colleague firms throughout the United States as well as internationally. Our affiliation with TAG is an integral part of our practice and we applaud the Alliance's commitment to excellence and the well-deserved recognitions they continue to receive. Congratulations to Richard Attisha and the whole TAG Alliances team."

"We are honoured to be ranked as an "Elite" international legal alliance once again and to contribute our insights to the annual introduction for the fourth straight year," exclaims Richard Attisha. "Over the years, Chambers & Partners, the most reputable legal ranking agency internationally, has consistently recognized the standing of our global alliance and our member firms and their lawyers. Our consistent achievement of the highest rankings bestowed upon legal alliances attests to the quality of our member firms. This is exemplified by their prominence in local markets and ability to provide exceptional client service in an increasingly complex global regulatory environment."

In selecting networks and alliances for their "Elite" status, Chambers & Partners pays particular attention to the quality of the member firms, their global reach, and the value that the alliance provides to its member firms. TAGLaw, with a global footprint in over 90 countries, has over 150 leading firms providing legal services to companies ranging from the Fortune 5000 and leading SMEs to high-net-worth individuals. With expertise in dozens of practice areas and numerous industry sectors, TAGLaw offers a substantial capability to its members' clients. This capability is expanded by TAGLaw's unique relationship with its sister alliances of accounting firms (TIAG[®]) and strategic partners (TAG-SP[®]), which together provide exceptional multidisciplinary service and a competitive advantage to businesses that cross geographical borders.
